

Fun Ways For Children To Learn Values

Roleplay

Pick a story from moral story books to enact the roles; this will help in better understanding of right and wrong.

Plant A Sapling

Take them out to the garden, give each one a seed/ sapling to plant, and let them nurture it till it bears fruit or a flower. This may teach them to be caring, patient, and gentle.

Puzzle Sharing

Give the students a puzzle and an option to solve it as a team or alone, within a time limit. This will help them think whether they should seek help and share the prize or do it alone and take the prize all by themselves.

A Gratitude List

Have the children write down the number of gifts they want for the next holiday and multiply the number by three. The multiplied product is the number of things they must write for which they are thankful.
