

Myths About DELAYED TEETHING

That Have No Scientific Evidence

1  Babies who have delayed teething are likely to have more teething problems.

Getting a gum incision may help in fastening the teething process.

3  Delayed teething in babies is associated with low IQ levels.

4  Delayed teething is a sign of an abnormality or a systemic disease.

5  Using teething jewelry might help in sensory stimulation and teething.

6  Natural remedies, such as honey, are safe and might help a baby with delayed teething.

