

Achterkamp

The word comes from Lower German and is a combination of the words "achter," meaning "behind," and "kamp," meaning "field."

Boerefijn

This surname likely comes from the French word "beurre fin," meaning "fine butter" or "good butter."

Langenberg

It means "long mountain" in Dutch, and there are several places by this name in The Netherlands.

TerAvest

It means "at the edge" or "eave." It likely referred to someone who lived at the edge of a forest or any other region.

Van Middelburg

It means "from Middelburg," a city in The Netherlands. The name of the city means "middle fortress" in Dutch.

Wang

It is the Dutch word for "cheek." It was the last name originally denoted to someone with prominent, round or rosy cheeks.