

Things To Remember When Co-Parenting

Refrain from discussing sensitive issues in your children's presence.

Come to a mutual agreement about any decision regarding your children.

Discuss with your ex what family values and beliefs you want to instill.

Stop your child from saying anything negative about your ex.

Talk out visitation rules clearly with your ex.

Keep the lines of communication open with your ex for issues with children.

