

TIPS ON Announcing Your BABY'S BIRTH

What to include in the announcement?

The introductory note or an announcement message.

The baby's full name, including the proud parents' names

The birthplace, time, and day if you wish to.

A cute photo of the baby, preferably while holding them.

When to send out the formal announcement?

You may wait until you are ready to entertain guests since people may visit you to congratulate you and see the baby.

Ideally, before six months and preferably around three months may be a good time to send out the news.
