

Points To Consider When Selecting A Shooting Toy

Guns that use softballs or soft darts are ideal for younger toddlers.

Opt for a limited dart range of 49 feet if you have space constraints.

Opt for a shooting game with a more extensive dart range for bigger play areas.

Opt for toy sets made with durable materials that withstand rough play.

Consider buying multiplayer shooting game sets to facilitate group play.

Consider purchasing shooting games that resemble a toy more and a weapon less.

Ensure the child indulges in an array of toys, not just shooting toys.

