

Tips To Choose Toys

That Support Your Child's Development

Choose toys that foster exploration and problem-solving, such as puzzles and building blocks.

Search for toys that encourage imagination and allow for creativity.

Look for toys that make your child active, such as indoor basketball or cricket sets.

Look for toys that can help in developing cognitive skills and emotional intelligence.

Select toys that help improve motor skills, such as musical instruments or toy cars.

Choose toys that help develop language skills, such as books or story-telling games.

Look for toys that teach about the world around them, such as play kitchen sets or science kits.