

How To Ace Your Flirting Game Through Pick-Up Lines?

Approach when he seems to be in a good mood or wait for the right moment.

Be confident, and don't fiddle with your clothes or hair. You can rehearse it alone if you're too nervous.

Align your tone with the mood of the line. Act casual if it's a funny one, or be a little flirty if it's a naughty one.

Assess the surroundings. They may not be comfortable with it in front of their buddies. Compliment him first and say a pick-up line relevant to the compliment or the conversation you are having.

Save the intense and intimate lines for later dates and begin by saying the funny ones to make him comfortable and not appear desperate.
