

Hair Wash Tips To Follow To Remove Wax

Wait at least a day or two before washing your hair. This will allow the wax to be fully set and make your style stay for long.

To remove the wax, use a clarifying shampoo. It is specifically formulated to remove excess oil, dirt, and product build-up from the hair.

Massage the clarifying shampoo into your hair and scalp, paying extra attention to the roots and areas where the wax is concentrated.

Rinse your hair thoroughly with warm water to remove the shampoo and remaining wax.

After rinsing the clarifying shampoo out of your hair, follow up with a conditioner to moisturize and detangle your hair.

Rinse the conditioner out of your hair thoroughly and style it as desired.
