

Fun Icebreaker Games And Activities For Teens

Balloon war

Players are divided into two teams with equal numbers of balloons. The team that blows the maximum number of balloons within 10 minutes is the winner.

Time bomb

All the players need to sit inwards in a circle. Then, a player has to call the name of another player and throw a ball at them. If the player takes more than two seconds to call a name, they are out.

Three in our crowd

Divide the players into three teams and find three things in common among team members. Then, one player will introduce the group and share the common things.

Frown king or queen

Players are divided into pairs and stand facing one another. When the game starts, everyone has to look at their partner and frown without speaking. The first one to smile is out.

Crossword names

Ask the players to write their first names on a piece of paper. Each player seeks someone whose name's last letter is the first letter of the seeker's name or vice-versa.
