

WAYS TO MAKE READING ENJOYABLE FOR A CHILD

Buy books with vivid characters and do not shy from introducing age-appropriate concepts such as villains and death.

Let them make drawings about stories and their characters. They can paint their own cover page for a book they read.

Pause and ask questions about what they think will happen next.

Ask them if and how they would like to change the ending of a story.

Follow books with field trips. If they read a book about dinosaurs, take them to a dinosaur museum for a hands-on experience.

Never make reading part of a punishment.
