

HEART-WARMING PARAGRAPHS

— To Share With Your — Crush

I love sleeping because even though we are away, I get to see you in my dreams, fulfilling every bit of my life. I see us sharing our lives and weaving our beautiful future. My dreams make my belief in 'us' stronger.

Even when a million people surround me, my heart seeks your presence. It waits to reach out to you and be in your company. You have captured my heart.

I cannot spend a minute away from you. We are meant to be together, have a family, and grow old together. Our lives would be perfect, and I wish to spend every day making you feel loved and cared for.

I cross my heart and promise to give you all that I have got to make your life as beautiful as mine is with your presence. You have added meaning to my existence.

Your compassionate nature and your constant care for me have made me fall in love with you even more. You are the kindest soul I know, and I feel fortunate to be with you. You are my true and only asset.

Seeing you hurt is the most difficult thing for me. I want to ensure that I am the reason you are happy and be your comfort partner when you have had a rough day.
