

Tips For Washing Baby Clothes

Wash a new garment before first use to remove any irritants and chemicals.

Check the care label for instructions before washing the clothes.

Use mild or gentle laundry detergents to wash baby clothes.

Opt for detergents free of enzymes and fragrances.

Prefer washing the baby's clothes separately.

Pre-soak clothes soiled with stool or food in a baby-safe fabric disinfectant before washing.

Wear gloves while handwashing clothes if your baby has sensitive skin.

Avoid fabric softeners and shrink-resistant solutions as they may contain formaldehyde.
