

WHAT YOU SHOULD & SHOULDN'T DO WHILE TEXTING A

Girl

THE DOS OF TEXTING A GIRL

Be confident. Text her right after your first meeting, preferably within the first 24 to 48 hours.

Mention her name. This way, she'll know you are interested enough to have yourself familiarized with her name.

Start with a flirty yet sweet message such as "I have been thinking about you" or "I couldn't get you off my mind the whole day."

Ping her your random mishaps or occurrences of the day, making her feel important.

Keep the conversation lighthearted and crack a joke or two.

Ask some general questions about her to show interest in her likes, dislikes, and hobbies.

THE DON'TS OF TEXTING A GIRL

Do not bombard her with texts. Give her time and wait for her replies.

Do not be creepy. Analyze your flirty texts or take help from your friends to make sure it is not crossing the line.

Refrain from using abbreviations or shortened words such as "5n." These may completely ruin her mood.

Do not give away too much of your feelings and proclaim your love in the first few conversations.

Don't rant about your past relationships with her in your first conversations.
