

Dating

A Married Woman – Things To Know

It's better not to keep any expectations. Even though you have immense love for each other, don't keep hoping for her to leave her family for you.

She may be dating you to get back at her husband, who might be cheating on her.

Don't hope for a normal relationship with romantic dates and hand holdings.

Her family will always come first for her. So prepare to be stood up on your dates if she has to spend time with her children or in-laws.

If you are casually dating, try not to fall for her because she may have feelings for her husband.

Be prepared for confrontation since there is always a chance of someone finding out.

