

Essential Items To Improve A Toddler's Toilet Training

Training pants, bigger but less absorbent than diapers, are ideal for handling accidental toilet emergencies.

Pull-ups are travel-friendly absorbent alternatives to training pants, ideal for outdoor use.

Clothes that are easy for the child to remove or undo quickly on their own.

A potty seat with a ladder to encourage the child to use the toilet with comfort.

A stepping footstool to help the child reach the toilet independently.

Underpants that help the child get accustomed to wearing underwear.

Reference:

1. Toilet Training: When And How To Do It; Raising Children Network

Images: Amazon