

How To Promote Your 22-Month-Old's Development

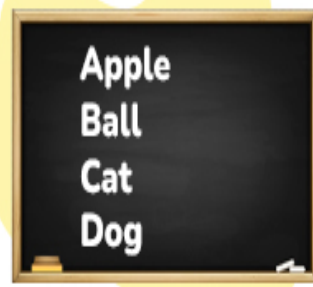

BALL

Give them an object referring to its name

Converse with them during their playtime

Teach them a new word every day

Don't force them into learning something too quickly

Select toys that aid in stimulating their mental and physical development

Model them the right ways to do things and provide positive encouragement

