

Advantages And Disadvantages Of A No-Fault Divorce

Advantages

- No need to show the spouse's faults as the basis for divorce
- Either of the partners can initiate the process
- Can resolve faster if the spouse has no objections
- May have reduced legal and attorney expenses

Disadvantages

- If the spouse opposes, the court proceedings can extend
- The dispute over assets and custody could be as expensive as a fault divorce
- Maybe misused by a disgruntled or resentful spouse
- The laws and rules of no-fault divorce vary from one place to another
