

Risk Factors For Norovirus Infection In Babies

Staying near an infected person, such as a parent or sibling

Spending time in closed spaces, such as daycare centers.

Not washing the baby's hands after coming from outdoors.

Parents not maintaining adequate personal hygiene.

Parents not washing their hands after changing the baby's diapers.

Babies under six months, if being served unclean water or formula milk prepared with contaminated water.