

Ways To Manage A Child's Anger Efficiently

Train your children to say "No" or walk away from the trigger.

Understand the reasons for your child's anger to decide how to handle them.

Take them on a short walk to explain things calmly.

Build your child's self-esteem with optimistic feedback.

Teach your child quick exercises such as clenching and unclenching their fists to ease stress.

