

Reasons Why Rebound Relationships Don't Work

There is a comparison with the last relationship frequently.

The rebound is a bandaid over past hurt.

It is meant to fill a void.

The relationship is superficial.

There is a longing for your ex.

Both partners are not compatible.

The decision to get into the relationship was made in haste.

It is a temporary distraction, and the novelty wears off eventually.

